FIVE MEN BURNED TO A CRISP.

All the Others Have Narrow Escapes, Thirty of Them So Badly Burned That several Are Expected to Die-The Great Destruction Still Going On-Untold Damage Being Done in the Northwest.

Buffalo, May 13.-A later dispatch from Austin, Pa., gives the following story of the burning of the work train in the forest fires near there: The train had proceeded a few miles into the hemlocks when the intense heat and blinding smoke of the forest conflagration put an end to its further progress. An attempt was then made to reverse the course of the train and retreat from the approaching fire, but it was too late. The train was overtaken by the flames. All hands jumped from the cars and sought safety m a creek that flowed near by.

m a creek that flowed near by.

Then came an unexpected phase of the thrilling experience of the men. The water of the creek was holling, and those who leaped from the moving train found themselves in water which was nearly scalding hot. There the terror-tricken fire fighters croached while the tornado of fire and smoke rolled over and beyond them. All but five of the party escaped the fury of the flames in this way, but the heat was so intense that several of the number were hally that several of the number were badly iurned. Superintendent Badger did not pump into the boiling creek. He ran shead of the flames and was overtaken by them and burned to a crisp. Four other men who followed him shared his

A rescuing party went out after the fire fighters. Thirty of the men were found so badly disabled that they were lying about blistered, bruised and suffering intensely. Fifteen of them are so badly burned that several are expected to die. Search was made vesterday for the missing members of the party, but the only body found was that of Badger. tained irreparable loss.

Lock Haven is overhung by a heavy cloud of smoke, caused by the forest fires in several parts of the country. Much valuable timber has been burned. In the vicinity of Bellefont, the damage done by the forest fires is almost incalculable. All along the Buffalo Run railroad the fire has raged, burning miles upon miles of fences, orchards and valuable timber. The fires still rage, and it is a hopeless task to fight them. The entire wild cherry crop is entirely destroyed.

DULUTH. Minn.. May 13.—Heavy forest fires are raging on the Wisconsin shore and the whole head of the lakes is developed in smoke. Serious reports of damage in the South Superior and New Superior were received here yesterday afternoon. Large forces of men have been sent out to do what they can toward checking the flames. The for-ests in the immediate vicinity of Duluth are also burning. The city fire department has been called out and are now playing upon the flames.

OVER THE SEA. Attempted Assessination of the Crare

wich in Japan-Other Foreign News. LONDON, May 13 .- A dispatch has been received here confirmatory of the report that the life of the czarewich has been attempted in Japan. The dispatch been attempted in Japan. The dispatch says that the attack was made Monday, and that the scene at Kiota, now officially designated Saikio, or "Western Capital," and formerly the capital of Japan, on the island of Hondo, twenty-seven miles northwest of Tokio.

The czarewitch, now 23 years old, is on his way home after a leisurely tour through Austria, Turkey, India and China. The remaining part of his itinerancy takes in Japan and Corea, and in midsummer he is to land at Vladinostock, the Pacific terminus of the proposed trans-Siberan railroad, and thence journey across Siberia homeward.

The czarewich had gone to the picturesque resort called Otan, on Lake Binatuni, six miles from Kioto. There a native policeman named Tsuaa Sanzo attacked the prince, striking him on the head with his sword with intent to nurder. Owing to the thickness of the sunhelmet worn by the prince, are sent days and defeated, and described, a cut days and defeated, and described, a cut days and described, a cut days and described a cut days.

head with his sword with intent to murder. Owing to the thickness of the sunhelmet worn by the prince, the sword was deflected, and described a cut down the side of the forehead, not of a serious character. The imperial party hastened back to Kioto and got surgical assistance. The Japanese emperor and his ministers hurried to Kioto to express their sympathy.

In connection with the report of the attempt made upon the life of the czarewich it is remembered that ever since he started on his journey around the the world his official suite has been in a state of constant anxiety lest just such an attempt should be made. It was in India that his attendants considered their master to run the greatest risks, and while he was in that country every possible safeguard was thrown about the person of the prince. So solicitous were his attendants at that time that the carewich became practically invisible to the general public.

Even in the case of official receptions all ceremonies were reduced to the narrowest limits compatible with courtesy and the imperial traveler returned to his and the imperial traveler returned to his privacy with all possible speed. It has been reported that a perfectly innocent man was cut down by the swords of the officers of a Russian man-of-war, because, in the discharge of his duty, he approached the czarewich with what appeared to them, threatening haste. On another accasion, it is said that the Russian party was thrown into a panic by the explosion of a soda-water bottle.

by the explosion of a soda-water bottle.

It is a fact that the British officials, charged with the duty of entertaining the distinguished Russian, made no sethe distinguished Russian, made no se-cret of their relief at his safe departure from their territory. In China, by reason of the strained relations which exist between that country and Russia, it was feared that there always existed the chance of some unfortunate occur-rence which would mar the pleasure of the imperial Russian visit, but that a Japanese should attempt the life of the czarewich was a thing not content. czarewich was a thing not contemplated.

Nothing more than the fact of the assault, and a very few meagre details have as yet come to hand, but there are not wanting those who suggest that the arm of Nihilism is long enough to strike the Romanoff dynasty even in Japan. Others refuse to see in it more than the act of a lumatic whose attention has been concentrated upon the ezarewich by reason of his prominence and the Orient.

At the Russian legation in this city the officials are extremely reticent, refusing to discuss the matter with representatives of the press. It is nevertheless, obvious that the greatest anxiety prevails, not only to learn further of the prince's condition, but of the cause for the attack on his life.

tary Tracy, who is in this city on private business, was interviewed regarding the reports of the orders given to the commander of the cruiser Charleston in the matter of the capture of the Itata and the ability of the cruiser to cope with the Esmeralda in the event of the latter interfering to protect the runaway vessel. He scouted the idea that the Charleston was inferior to the Chilian cheers. A grand ovation was given him vessel and said she was fully able to cope as he passed the high school building by with the Esmeralda, as were two other with the Esmeralda, as were two other with the Esmeralda, as were two other cruisers of the United States navy now in the Pacific. The latter were the San Francisco and Baltimore, and they were more than able to hold their own with the insurgent craft, though it was not likely that they would fall in with her. He stated definitely that the Charleston has orders to capture the Itata wherever she may be found on the high seas. The United States maintained a strictly neutral position in refusing to supply arms to the insurgents, and the Itata would have to take the consequence of her violation of every rule of international law in breaking away from the custody of the government after scizure. The secretary believes the matter will be settled peaceably and with honor to the United States.
